

Poloskie Towarzystwo Socjologiczne

The latest, XII Sociological Congress was held in Poznan (2004) and has been focused on "Poland in Europe: Determinants and Perspectives". The upcoming event is convened to Zielona Gora in September 2007 under the leading theme "What unites, and what divides us?" PTS publishes The Polish Sociological Review (a scientific journal in English, noted on the Philadelphian List) and participates in the global sociological community, being part of both the International Sociological Association (ISA) and the European Sociological Association. Polish sociologist, Prof. Piotr Sztompka was the ISA President in 2002-2006, and several prominent sociologists from around the world are the honorary members of Polish Sociological Association. The PTS Center for Scientific Research (est. 1984) enables organizations commissioning social research to get an access to professional expertise in methodology and particular disciplines of sociology. As a unit of the Polish Sociological Association, CSR has a unique position to find experts working in different academic and research institutions, spread all over the country. CSR offers support in both quantitative and qualitative research projects and operates its own nationwide network of qualified interviewers administered by professional regional supervisors.
