

Plan for Dissemination 3

On the other hand, we will organize a number of national workshops as well as a closing conference to be held at the end of the project. Specifically, we plan to hold two national workshops in each country: one after the quantitative data will have been gathered and analyzed (WP2, WP3), the other upon completion of the qualitative data collection and analysis (WP4). Selected advisors from our networks (whose field is most relevant to the particular topic) will be invited to participate in these events. The aim of the national workshops is not only to diffuse the results of our study among interested parties, but also to improve the dialogue between social scientists, policy-makers, and various social and economic milieus in order to provide better responses to the challenges posed by unemployment and social exclusion.
